AREAS OF PRACTICE
Health & Medicine

As a trial lawyer, I serve as a problem solver; oftentimes working toward making a bad situation better. I take pride in representing medical and healthcare professionals—protecting their practices and defending their reputations in cases involving allegations of malpractice. Whether it is in the courtroom or at the negotiating table, my approach to litigation is targeted at resolving disputes consistent with the best interests of my clients.

Building strong, lasting relationships is very important to me. I take time to learn who my clients are, both personally and professionally. No matter the case, my clients can trust that I have their back.
